Examples of Assignments

Reading Assignments

1. Read through the scores of the assigned music in preparation for rehearsal. Learn your part and have an overall understanding of the form and function of the piece.
2. Identify up to three recordings of the composition you are learning. Listen to each and select one for further study. Be ready to discuss in rehearsal how you think the musical interpretation by the musicians on the recording could guide the ensemble's performance.

Writing Assignments

1. Write the appropriate technical direction in your score that you will need for performance.
2. Choose a piece of interest and unravel the context surrounding its creation. Delve into the life and influences of the composer, shedding light on their unique musical style. Investigate the premiere and subsequent performances of the chosen composition, examining critical reviews and audience reactions. Conclude with reflections on the composition's enduring significance. Present your findings in a concise and well-organized manner (1-2 pages), ensuring proper citation of sources and possibly incorporating relevant visual aids to enhance understanding. This assignment aims to cultivate research and analytical skills while fostering a deeper appreciation for the interplay between a composer's life, their work, and its performance history.

Out-of-Class Assignments

1. Rehearse, practice, and prepare individual parts. Memorize the melody, chord progression, form, harmonies, and backgrounds.
2. Write and prepare solos to be performed over selected compositions.
